Tricks on April Fool's Day

In 1698, a number of Londoners received invitations to see the lions washed in the Thames. It happened on April Fool's Day. However, the same trick (REPEAT) in 1860, and again a lot of curious Londoners came to enjoy the lions washed.

In 1957 BBC Television played an even (HILARIOUS) joke on its viewers.

It showed a film about a spaghetti crop (GROW) in Southern Switzerland.

While agricultural workers (PICK) long strands of spaghetti from bushes, the presenter of the film commented on the uniform length of the spaghetti and on the successful cultivation of 'these vegetables'.

After the programme had finished, there (BE) a lot of calls from curious TV viewers.

Obviously, those people (NOT GET) the joke.

They wanted to know where they (CAN) buy spaghetti bushes.
